

Any federal law or regulation concerning telephone solicitations should establish a minimum requirement "but" allow states to establish more strict guidelines. Indiana's law has pleasantly reduced the number of unsolicited calls I get from about 10-12 per week to 2-3 per month. I am very happy with our state law. I would be most distressed if again I start receiving these unwanted calls.